Springdale Cemetery Association seeking funds to repair chapel

BY BOB DEMAREE

The Chapel at Springdale Cemetery in downtown Madison has been falling more and more into disrepair for years but there is a plan now to revitalize the Gothic Revival chapel constructed in the 1930s and designed by architect Frederick Wallick.

Don McKay, president of the non-profit Springdale Cemetery Association, and John Muessel, secretary-treasurer, were at Thursday's Jefferson County Commissioner meeting asking for $25,000 from the county's Historic Preservation Fund toward what they estimate will be a $65,000 project.

No decision was made by the Commissioners, who said they will take the request under consideration, but if they decide to dedicate funds to the project it will require an additional appropriation from the Jefferson County Council, which would make the final decision on where the money would come.

Muessel noted that the primary task of the cemetery association is to maintain the grounds and records of the cemetery. "That consumes all of our budget," he said, noting the nonprofit cemetery receives no government funding. Funds for any other projects must come through fundraisers.

Broken glass and metal framework on the stained glass windows and rust and environmental stains to the stonework are among repairs the Springdale Cemetery Association wants to make at the cemetery's Gothic Revival chapel designed by architect Frederick Wallick and constructed in the 1930s in downtown Madison.

Daughters of the American Revolution members discuss hopes for John Paul Park

BY BOB DEMAREE

Members of the John Paul Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution in Madison, attended Wednesday's Madison Parks Board meeting to talk about how they hope to collaborate with the city of Madison for the beautification of the park dedicated to their namesake.

The park, originally a cemetery on grounds given to the city by founder and chapter namesake, John Paul, became Madison's first city park in 1904.

"We asked for this meeting just to make the Parks Board aware and

Courtney, Dattilo file papers to run for Madison mayor

BY BOB DEMAREE

Two previously announced candidates for Madison mayor made it official this week when Bob Courtney and Dan Dattilo filed for the May 2023 primary.

Democrat Dan Dattilo filed his candidacy papers Wednesday, the first day that a declaration of candidacy could be made for this year's municipal elections, while Courtney, the Republican incumbent, filed his paperwork Thursday morning.

Both Courtney and Dattilo had announced their intentions to seek the office last month.

Dattilo is now in his second term as City Councilman At-Large and served as acting Mayor following the unexpected death of Mayor Damon Welch on Sept. 25, 2019.

COVID-19 death toll now 164 in Jefferson

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Although new cases COVID-19 are declining in Jefferson County, the Indiana Department of Health reported another new death this week increasing the county's death toll to 164 for the pandemic.

According to the Centers of Disease Control and Prevention, Jefferson County's COVID-19 community level improved to "low" this week after being "medium" last week. State data showed the seven-day case average for Jefferson County at eight.

The COVID-19 community level is also low in Carroll, Switzerland and Trimble counties. The seven-day case average for Switzerland County was one. Meanwhile, in the last week, Trimble County has had four cases of COVID-19 and Carroll County has had 3.

Death totals remain the same for Carroll at 54, Trimble at 47 and Switzerland at 21.

BPWS hears project updates on water, pool house

BY BOB DEMAREE

Madison's Board of Public Works and Safety (BPWS) received updates on several projects that are moving forward or nearing completion at its meeting on Tuesday.

Brian Jackson, the city's superintendent of utilities, said the notice to proceed on the city of Madison's water infrastructure project was like to come next week while Nicole Schell, the city's director of planning, said some work remains on the Crystal Beach pool house but the project is very close to completion.

Although bids for the water project have been awarded, contractors are waiting on a notice to proceed before the work can actually begin. Jackson said Rob Bellucci, project manager for Commonwealth Engineers, is working to organize a pre-construction meeting that involves engineers, State Revolving Fund (SRF) personnel, contractors, the labor standards consultants and city officials. "He's trying to put together a date that works for everybody together," said Jackson, who anticipates that will be next week followed by the notice to proceed.

OBITUARIES

Herb Parker

Herbert Lee "Herb" Parker, 67, of Madison, Indiana, died Tuesday, Jan. 3, 2023, at Norton Hospital in Louisville after a brief illness.

He was born on March 25, 1955, in Louisville, to Thomas Lindsey Parker and Jennie Irene Miller Parker. He was raised in Danville, Kentucky, and graduated from Danville High School. He was inducted into the US Navy and served during the Vietnam Era. After military service he worked for Kentucky Utilities Company in Ghent, Kentucky. He moved to the Madison area in 1978 and immediately became involved in the community. He married Patricia Hereford and they owned and operated the Nex-Dor Lounge and the Best Western of Madison for several years. He then owned the Frisch's Restaurant franchise in Madison from 1996 until his retirement in 2016. He had also worked as a real estate agent for Remax and was a contractor who built many houses in the area and owned his own construction company, "Signature Builders." He enjoyed his companionship with Lee Ann Eisert for the past 30 years and they enjoyed traveling, camping, sitting around the camp fire and spending time with friends and family. He was a member of the Madison VFW Post No. 1969 since 1998, the Major Samuel Woodfill Post No. 9 of the American Legion, the Madison Area Chamber of Commerce, the Madison Elks Lodge No. 524 and had served on the city of Madison's TIF Board. He was a past president of Madison Regatta Inc. and enjoyed attending all the Regatta events. He was an avid University of Kentucky Wildcats basketball and football fan. He was patriotic and proud to have served his country. He enjoyed socializing and being with his group the "The Prayer Meeting."

Survivors include his fiancée, Lee Ann Eisert of Madison; a stepson, Taylor Eisert a of Dupont, Indiana; his stepdaughter, Paige Eisert of Madison; two brothers, Tommy Parker of Lexington, Kentucky and Ed Parker of Danville; a sister, Joyce Parker of San Diego; and three step grandchildren, a nephew, several nieces and other relatives.

He was preceded in death by his parents; a brother, William D. "Bill" Parker on March 23, 2010; and a sister, Bonnie Louise Parker Visty on March 25, 2008.

Private services will be held at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison. Interment will follow at the Indiana Veterans Memorial Cemetery in Madison.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Jefferson County Animal Shelter through the funeral home. Online condolences and memorials, www.morgan-nay.com.

Martha Dyer

County Plan, BZA hear updates on proposed zoning changes

BY BOB DEMAREE

Jefferson County's Board of Zoning Appeals and Plan Commission opened 2023 with a joint session and a discussion of updates to zoning and subdivision ordinances.

With the boards meeting in joint session to hire Pat Magrath as attorney for both boards, Plan Commission president Warren Auxier provided an overview of the changes that have been proposed with assistance from Taylor Siefker Williams Design Group.

Magrath's hiring for the year was unanimously approved in the joint meeting between the two boards. "I have been pleased with the level of work and the way things have been handled by Pat," said Auxier.

Auxier then talked about the updated zoning and subdivision ordinances. "We've been working on our revision of ordinances for quite some time, and we're nearing the end of it," Auxier said, noting that even as the Plan Commission is preparing the ordinances, the BZA will have the job of enforcing them. He encouraged BZA members to review the proposed zoning and subdivision ordinances prior to adoption and provide input if needed.

"There will be some other opportunities for input and if there is still a need for changes we're still open to all types of conversation," he said, noting several steps remain before official approval of the ordinances will take place.

Auxier said the proposed changes are minimal, but highlighted some of the differences.

He said the minimum lot size has been reduced from 1.72 acres to 1.15 acres and the road frontage requirement has been decreased.

"At the time that was done originally, the thought process was they needed to have extra room for two septic systems if the first one failed," Auxier said. "After conversations with the Board of Health, they assure us that with the systems that are available now, even if you have a failure they can go back in on the acre size lot and take care of that."

Auxier said there has been a proposed change in the subdivision ordinance that if the density is less than one house per acre curbs, gutters and sidewalks will be required.

Also, there was a change in the required acreage for subdivisions using existing roads. Auxier said currently the requirement is a minimum of 20 acres. "We did that because we didn't want county roads to get stripped out for subdivisions," said Auxier, noting the updated ordinance would change that requirement to a minimum of 10 acres. "We think we can still accomplish the same purpose."

Auxier said the proposed ordinance provides for a minimum square footage for a house at 600 square feet. "There had been some concern that a tiny home would not meet that," said Auxier, noting that would be correct "but they do have the ability to ask for a variance."

He said there may be locations where a tiny home might work and other locations where a tiny home might not work, so that allows the Board of Zoning Appeals to make that determination "of when and where they would fit in."

The proposed ordinances also provide regulations for solar and wind operations that follow state guidelines, providing a requirement that a bond be posted for land reclamation. "If a solar farm or a solar field is abandoned and people do not put the land back the way it was before, the bond has to be sufficient to cover the cost of putting it back," said Auxier.

Persons wanting to view the proposed ordinance may contact Lynette Anderson at the county building and zoning office at 812-274-3928.

In the Board of Zoning Appeals meeting, the board approved an application for a variance from Eric Smith on property located at 3766 South Sharon Hill Road, Lexington, in Republican Township. Smith requested a 50 foot setback from the center of the road to build a 24 foot x 40 foot pole barn house at an existing location of an older home. Due to the septic tank and lateral lines, it was determined the house cannot sit any further back from the center of the road.

In other business, officers were elected for the BZA with David Ferguson reelected president and Darrell Ginn elected vice president. Ginn replaced Andy Crozier, last year's vice president, who had to resign from the board after being elected Monroe Township Trustee. The meeting was also the first for Crozier's replacement, Kellen Cronen, who had been appointed last month by the Commissioners.

Officers were also elected for the Plan Commission with Auxier being reelected president and Commissioner David Bramer being reelected vice president.

UPDATES

Jackson said contractors have already begun preparing to go to work. "Some of them have already started ordering supplies," he said.

During Tuesday's meeting, the BPWS approved disbursements to Commonwealth Engineers to pay for final design, soil borings and regulatory work, erosion control and regulatory work, and bidding and negotiation.

Meanwhile, change orders were approved for the Crystal Beach pool house for additional light fixtures and updating paint totaling $2,342.

Schell said no occupancy date has been set for the pool house. "We're still working through the punch list but the engineers and the contractor team are meeting weekly to find out where they're at on that progress."

Schell said the elevator — one of the biggest hangups — is expected to operational once the phone line is installed which she expects to take place this week.

The board also approved a lighting service agreement with Duke Energy on decorative lighting for Michigan Road from Clifty Drive to near the entrance of Anderson Elementary School — the area that will be Shoppes of Sunrise Crossing and Residences of Sunrise Crossing.

Tony Steinhardt III, the city's director of economic development, said Duke Energy's ability to provide decorative lighting takes the responsibility away from the city for maintenance but the agreement adds $338 per month to the city's Duke Energy bill. Steinhardt said cobra lights in that area will be replaced with 15 decorative lights to match what's at the new approach off the Milton-Madison Bridge.

He said the new decorative lights, which are also LED and more efficient, will be owned by Duke Energy. "Most of the lights in our downtown community are owned by the city and have to be maintained by the city, so when accidents happen we have to go repair them," said Steinhardt, but the new lights on Michigan Road will be the responsibility of Duke Energy to maintain.

"We have some other exciting news coming in the next few weeks with Duke Energy on some other projects as well," said Steinhardt. "It's been a good conversation with Duke Energy over the last few months, and this a good opportunity to move that project forward."

In other business the BPWS:

• Approved a PACE midpoint award of $12,500 to Matt Findley at 615 Mulberry St., a dilapidated structure. Board member David Carlow commended the work being done there, noting that for many years the house was vacant, and it's wonderful to see that it will be occupied again.

• Approved a final PACE award of $3,750 to William Adams at 220 E. Main St. in which half of the disbursement has already been received for tuck pointing, window repair and metal siding in the back of the building.

• Approved an annual legal services contract with Joe Jenner through the firm, Jenner, Pattison and Sharpe, at a $1,250 retainer per month for 2023.

PARK

understand our interest in John Paul Park," said Ann Roller, a regent with the John Paul Chapter of DAR and chair of the organization's John Paul Park committee. "DAR is committed to a long-term investment in the park. We're hoping that working together we can get a lot more accomplished and improve the park."

Roller was joined at the meeting by committee members Hilary Beall and Phyllis Steinhardt. She explained that a group began raising money in 2007 for major improvements to the park and the funds went to the Community Foundation of Madison and Jefferson County. In 2017, DAR received notification that money from the John Paul Park Conservancy Endowment would be coming annually to the organization to invest in John Paul Park.

She noted it's not a large amount of money; but that DAR has been receiving the funds for five years and it's averaged $840 per year. DAR established the park committee in 2017 and began working with the city while Damon Welch was mayor to make improvements.

During that time, Roller said the slate roof on the tool shed was repaired, overgrown shrubs were removed and the gazebo was cleaned and painted. Later, DAR worked with the city in designing walking paths through the park and restoring five benches that the city installed.

DAR has plans for twice-a-year cleanup days at John Paul Park. The most recent was held on Oct. 11, the anniversary of DAR's founding.

Roller said DAR has established three priorities and the first will focus on the base of the former fountain at the park.

"If you go to John Paul Park, it's a lovely park as it is, but the fountain is just an eyesore," Roller said. The plan is to power-wash and repair the fountain base and bring it back as close as possible to how the original base looked. During that process, soil will be removed from within the base and then be replaced after restoration is complete. The fountain restoration project will be funded completely by DAR.

The second priority will be the park's trees. "There are original trees that are in the park," she said, and in working with the city's Tree Board, the DAR committee wants to identify the trees, and then consider whether any trees need to be added or removed. Additionally, there are stumps in the park that the committee would like to remove.

The third priority is access to water. "We would really like water brought to that park. When we went in the fall to clean the stones, we had to bring water in buckets just to wash those stones and do any work," Roller said. With better access to water, even more cleaning could be done.

Roller said the request for water is not related to the fountain — there are no plans to attempt to make it once again operational — or for public access to water. She said the goal is to make it easier to conduct work projects to maintain and beautify the park. She is hopeful something can be done similar to the city's Jefferson Street parking lot where there is a key access to water that is used by the Valley Hills Garden Club for its beautification and maintenance efforts there.

Parks Director Matt Woolard said there have already been discussions about providing water access to John Paul Park. "Because there was a fountain at one point at time, there was water access (in the past), but no longer. That has essentially eroded away," he said.

However, Woolard said contacts have been made to determine ways of providing water access to the park but they need to be mindful in how that is done. "That was a former cemetery so we want to be sure we don't encroach on anything we shouldn't" but water "is something we want to bring there. It's just going to make everyone's life easier so we can beautify that area more and take care of it better."

Woolard also suggested the possibility of bringing electricity to the park that would allow the gazebo to be decorated with Christmas lights. Roller agreed that electricity would also benefit the park. "Electricity was also on our list (for improvements), but we thought water first."

Roller expressed appreciation to the city for working with DAR on past improvements at John Paul Park, specifically noting help from Woolard and Street Supervisor Tony Sorrells.

"I wanted the board to understand our interest and commitment to improving John Paul Park, and we hope it will be as high a priority with you as it is with us," she said.

In addition to the money from the endowment, Roller said DAR is utilizing other donations to support its work at John Paul Park including one from the Genealogical Society, while also seeking grant funding.

Woolard expressed his appreciation for DAR's dedication to John Paul Park. "We really couldn't do half of what we do without these kind of public-private partnerships," he said. "We're elated" to be working with DAR on the John Paul Park improvements.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Saturday, Jan. 7, the seventh day of 2023. There are 358 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Jan. 7, 1953, President Truman announced in his State of the Union message to Congress that the United States had developed a hydrogen bomb.

On this date:

In 1608, an accidental fire devastated the Jamestown settlement in the Virginia Colony.

In 1789, America held its first presidential election as voters chose electors who, a month later, selected George Washington to be the nation's first chief executive.

In 1927, commercial transatlantic telephone service was inaugurated between New York and London.

In 1955, singer Marian Anderson made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera in New York, in Verdi's "Un Ballo in Maschera."

In 1959, the United States recognized the new government of Cuba, six days after Fidel Castro led the overthrow of Fulgencio Batista.

In 1963, the U.S. Post Office raised the cost of a first-class stamp from 4 to 5 cents.

In 1979, Vietnamese forces captured the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, overthrowing the Khmer Rouge government.

In 1989, Emperor Hirohito of Japan died in Tokyo at age 87; he was succeeded by his son, Crown Prince Akihito.

In 1999, for the second time in history, an impeached American president went on trial before the Senate. President Bill Clinton faced charges of perjury and obstruction of justice; he was acquitted.

In 2004, President George W. Bush proposed legal status, at least temporarily, for millions of immigrants improperly working in the U.S.

In 2015, masked gunmen stormed the Paris offices of Charlie Hebdo, a French newspaper that had caricatured the Prophet Mohammad, methodically killing 12 people, including the editor, before escaping in a car. (Two suspects were killed two days later.)

In 2019, Amazon eclipsed Microsoft as the most valuable publicly traded company in the U.S. For the first time in more than 25 years, Supreme Court Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg was absent from oral arguments as she recuperated from cancer surgery.

Ten years ago: President Barack Obama announced he would nominate former GOP Sen. Chuck Hagel as his next defense secretary, calling him "the leader our troops deserve"; Obama also chose White House counterterrorism adviser John Brennan to lead the Central Intelligence Agency.

Five years ago: "Three Billboards Outside Ebbing, Missouri" was the top film at the Golden Globe Awards, winning as best drama and taking home awards for stars Frances McDormand and Sam Rockwell and for writer-director Martin McDonagh.

One year ago: Three white men who chased and killed Ahmaud Arbery were sentenced to life in prison; a judge in Georgia denied any chance of parole for the father and son who armed themselves and initiated the deadly pursuit of the 25-year-old Black man after spotting him running in their neighborhood. In a first for medical science, doctors at the University of Maryland transplanted a heart from a pig that had undergone gene-editing into a human patient in a last-ditch effort to save his life. (The patient, 57-year-old David Bennett, died two months later; he'd been considered too sick to get a human heart.)

Today's Birthdays: Magazine publisher Jann Wenner is 77. Singer Kenny Loggins is 75. Singer-songwriter Marshall Chapman is 74. Actor Erin Gray is 73. Actor Sammo Hung is 71. Actor Jodi Long is 69. Actor David Caruso is 67. Talk show host Katie Couric is 66. Country singer David Lee Murphy is 64. Rock musician Kathy Valentine is 64. Actor David Marciano is 63. Sen. John Thune, R-S.D., is 62. Actor Hallie Todd is 61. Sen. Rand Paul, R-Ky., is 60. Actor Nicolas Cage is 59. Singer-songwriter John Ondrasik (Five for Fighting) is 58. Actor Rex Lee is 54. Actor Doug E. Doug is 53. Actor Kevin Rahm is 52. Actor Jeremy Renner is 52. Country singer-musician John Rich is 48. Actor Reggie Austin is 44. Singer-rapper Aloe Blacc is 44. Actor Lauren Cohan is 41. Actor Brett Dalton is 40. Actor Robert Ri'chard is 40. Actor Lyndsy Fonseca is 36. Actor Liam Aiken is 33. Actor Camryn Grimes is 33. Actor Max Morrow is 32. Actor Marcus Scribner is 23.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is Monday, Jan. 9, the ninth day of 2023. There are 356 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On Jan. 9, 2015, French security forces shot and killed two al-Qaida-linked brothers suspected of carrying out the rampage at the satirical newspaper Charlie Hebdo that had claimed 12 lives.

On this date:

In 1788, Connecticut became the fifth state to ratify the U.S. Constitution.

In 1793, Frenchman Jean Pierre Blanchard, using a hot-air balloon, flew from Philadelphia to Woodbury, New Jersey.

In 1861, Mississippi became the second state to secede from the Union, the same day the Star of the West, a merchant vessel bringing reinforcements and supplies to Federal troops at Fort Sumter, South Carolina, retreated because of artillery fire.

In 1913, Richard Milhous Nixon, the 37th president of the United States, was born in Yorba Linda, California.

In 1914, the County of Los Angeles opened the country's first public defender's office.

In 1916, the World War I Battle of Gallipoli ended after eight months with an Ottoman Empire victory as Allied forces withdrew.

In 1945, during World War II, American forces began landing on the shores of Lingayen Gulf in the Philippines as the Battle of Luzon got underway, resulting in an Allied victory over Imperial Japanese forces.

In 1951, the United Nations headquarters in New York officially opened.

In 1958, President Dwight D. Eisenhower, in his State of the Union address to Congress, warned of the threat of Communist imperialism.

In 1972, reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes, speaking by telephone from the Bahamas to reporters in Hollywood, said a purported autobiography of him, as told to writer Clifford Irving, was a fake.

In 1987, the White House released a January 1986 memorandum prepared for President Ronald Reagan by Lt. Col. Oliver L. North showing a link between U.S. arms sales to Iran and the release of American hostages in Lebanon.

In 2003, U.N. weapons inspectors said there was no "smoking gun" to prove Iraq had nuclear, chemical or biological weapons but they demanded that Baghdad provide private access to scientists and fresh evidence to back its claim that it had destroyed its weapons of mass destruction.

In 2005, Mahmoud Abbas, the No. 2 man in the Palestinian hierarchy during Yasser Arafat's rule, was elected president of the Palestinian Authority by a landslide.

In 2020, Chinese state media said a preliminary investigation into recent cases of viral pneumonia had identified the probable cause as a new type of coronavirus.

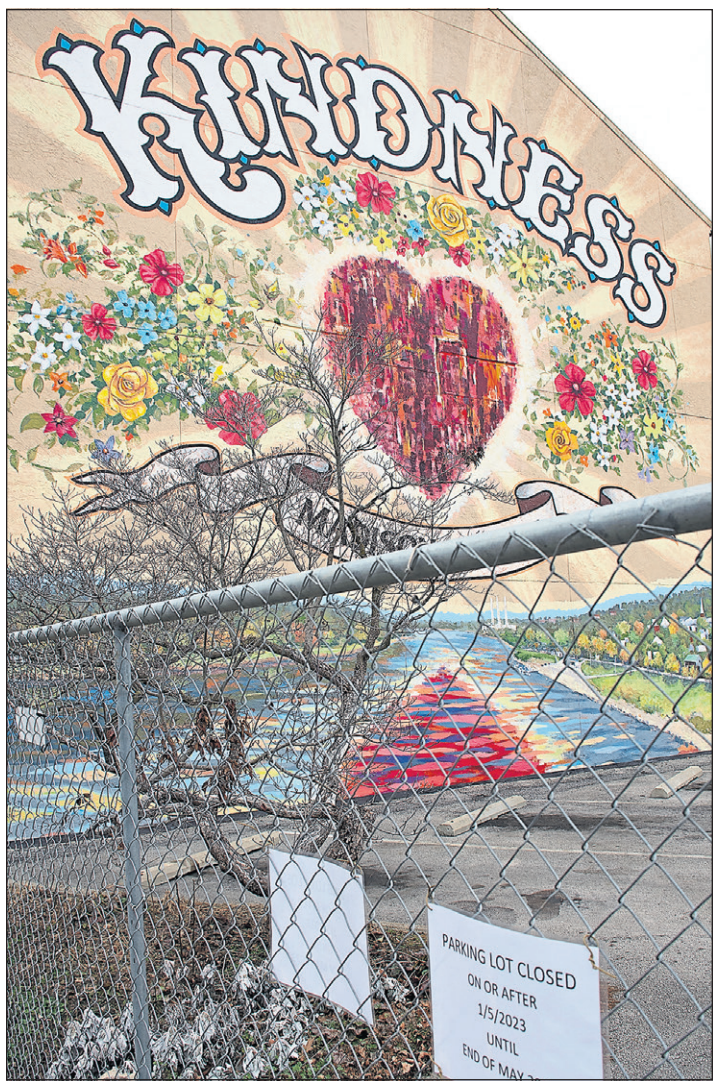
Ten years ago: Vice President Joe Biden heard personal stories of gun violence from representatives of victims groups and gun-safety organizations at the White House as he undertook to draft the Obama administration's response to the shooting at a Connecticut elementary school. The Seastreak Wall Street, a commuter ferry, made a hard landing into a Manhattan pier, injuring 85 people. No one was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame; for the second time in four decades.

Five years ago: Downpours sent mud and boulders roaring down Southern California hillsides that had been stripped of vegetation by a gigantic wildfire; more than 20 people died and hundreds of homes were damaged or destroyed. Breitbart News Network announced that Steve Bannon was stepping down as chairman after his public break with President Donald Trump.

One year ago: Seventeen people, including eight children, died after a fire sparked by a malfunctioning space heater filled a high-rise apartment building with smoke in the New York City borough of the Bronx; it was the city's deadliest blaze in three decades. Comedian and actor Bob Saget, best known for his role on the sitcom "Full House," was found dead in a hotel room in Orlando, Florida. (A medical examiner later determined that Saget died from an accidental blow to the head, likely from a backward fall.) Dwayne Hickman, an actor and TV executive remembered for his role as TV's Dobie Gillis from 1959 to 1963, died of complications from Parkinson's at his Los Angeles home; he was 87.

Today's birthdays: Actor K Callan is 87. Folk singer Joan Baez is 82. Rock musician Jimmy Page (Led Zeppelin) is 79. Actor John Doman is 78. Singer David Johansen (aka Buster Poindexter) is 73. Singer Crystal Gayle is 72. Actor J.K. Simmons is 68. Actor Imelda Staunton is 67. Nobel Peace laureate Rigoberta Menchú is 64. Rock musician Eric Erlandson is 60. Actor Joely Richardson is 58. Rock musician Carl Bell (Fuel) is 56. Actor David Costabile ("Breaking Bad") is 56. Rock singer Steve Harwell (Smash Mouth) is 56. Rock singer-musician Dave Matthews is 56. Actor-director Joey Lauren Adams is 55. Comedian/actor Deon Cole is 52.

Destination Madison



Above: The City of Madison closed its Mulberry Street parking lot on Friday to begin construction of a redesigned parking lot and park near the Kindness Mural at Second and Mulberry streets, a Destination Madison project that is part of the Mulberry Street Arts Corridor. The area has been barricaded and fenced ahead of excavation and other construction. Work is expected to be completed in May 2023. To accommodate parking needs, drivers can park their vehicles in the lot adjacent to the project, beside the former Ruler/Jay C grocery building at the opposite corner of Second and Mulberry streets.

Left: The City of Madison posted signs and erected a fence and barricades at its Mulberry Street parking lot on Friday where construction will begin on a redesigned parking lot and park near the Kindness Mural.

CHAPEL

Springdale Cemetery's Gothic Revival chapel designed by architect Frederick Wallick and constructed in the 1930s in downtown Madison.

Bob Demaree

Muessel said the chapel was built with private funds but over the years it hasn't been maintained and has been victimized by vandals. "What we're trying to do is to raise funds for renovations to the chapel so that it can be an asset to the cemetery to use for memorial services, burials during bad weather, cremation services" and available for other uses by the general public.

He also anticipates that the chapel could generate revenue for the cemetery with fees that might be charged for certain types of special uses.

"It's a very nice, historic building," said Muessel.

A document detailing Madison's National Historic Landmark District from the National Park Service describes the chapel as constructed of dressed stone with imitation quoins, corner buttresses, stained glass windows, and a gable front roof with crockets, and a raised parapet with dressed coping.

One of the most expensive repairs to the chapel, said Muessel, will be the stained glass windows that have been vandalized. He said the $65,000 overall cost comes from tallying up estimates he's received from contractors.

One of the most expensive repairs to the chapel, said John Muessel, secretary-treasurer, will be the stained glass windows that have been vandalized. He said the $65,000 overall cost comes from tallying up estimates he's received from contractors.

Muessel said Springdale Cemetery Association has reached out to Rhonda Deeg, owner of RLD Glass Art and Restoration, to assist with the stained glass window restoration, Madison Ironworks to repair the metal frames of the stained glass windows and Glass Unlimited to acquire protective shields to preserve the stained glass windows once repaired.

Another repair issue Muessel cited is that water is running downhill into the basement of the chapel, which is now in need of drainage repair. Additionally, he said the inside of the chapel needs to be "spruced up."

In addition to seeking funds from the county, Muessel said the association is also applying for a PACE (Preservation and Community Enhancement Grant) from the city of Madison. If the cemetery is able to receive the county contribution and the PACE grant, the cemetery association would rely on additional fundraising for the other funds needed.

"What we're trying to do is getting it back to where it's an asset to the community, it can help the cemetery and help the public too," he said.

In other business, the Commissioners:

- Elected Bobby Little president of the board, replacing Ron Lee, who had served as president in 2022.
- Heard the annual Board of Finance report from County Treasurer Meghan Hoskins. Hoskins reported the total interest earned from various accounts totaled $173,259.01, a significant increase over 2021 when interest totaled $55,501.25.

Hoskins also reported that 31 properties went to tax sale in 2022 with all but one being sold. She said the property that did not sell last year is the same property that had not sold the previous year.

County Auditor Heather Huff said that there could be a Commissioners sale for that one property where instead of collecting back taxes, it could be sold in its current condition to the highest bidder. Huff said the property is located in Deputy and has been used for storage.

- Approved a tax calculation with Reedy Financial required for having the bonds that were issued on the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office and Criminal Justice Center that's under construction. Huff said the calculation is required during the first year of the bond issue and then every five years after that. She said the jail bond money covers the cost of the tax calculation.
- Approved an agreement with Pettit and Associates on section corners for the year as part of the state statute in surveying to maintain accurate land boundaries.
- Little reported "things are moving around quite well" on the jail construction with work beginning to be done outside including landscaping, roads and curbing.

MAYOR

Courtney, who was already a candidate for Mayor in 2019, was selected in a Republican caucus to complete Welch's unexpired term and was sworn into office Oct. 14, 2019. He was then elected in that year's general election and now in the fourth year of his first complete term of office.

In addition to mayor, other Madison city offices on the ballot this year include clerk-treasurer, five council districts and two council at-large seats.

Patrick Thevenow, the Republican incumbent office holder for Madison City Council District 1, filed for reelection later on Friday and is the only candidate so far for city council.

The filing deadline is noon on Friday, Feb. 3. Primary election day will be Tuesday, May 2, with the general election Tuesday, Nov. 7.

How Do Annuities Work?

Layin' it on the line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/
Wealth Management

Annuities are financial products that provide a guaranteed income stream in exchange for a lump sum payment or series of payments. There are several different types of annuities, including fixed, variable, and indexed, each with its own features and benefits.

Here is an overview of how annuities work:

1. An individual enters into a contract with an insurance company to purchase an annuity.
2. The individual makes a lump sum payment or a series of payments to the insurance company.
3. The insurance company invests the payments and earns a return on the investment.
4. The individual can choose to receive the income from the annuity in a number of ways, such as:
   - A fixed amount each month, quarter, or year
   - A variable amount that depends on the performance of the underlying investments
   - A combination of the two
5. The income payments from the annuity are guaranteed for a specified period of time or for the remainder of the individual's life.

One common type of annuity is a fixed annuity, which provides a guaranteed rate of return and a guaranteed income stream for a specified period of time. The income stream can be received all at once in a lump sum, or it can be received in installments over a period of time.

Before making a purchase, it is important to carefully review the terms of the annuity contract, including the fees, surrender charges, and any restrictions on withdrawing funds.

Carroll girls rout Trimble in All 'A' semifinals

BY TIM HENDRICK
PAXTON MEDIA GROUP

Carroll County's Madie Hicks drives on Trimble County's Addison Edmonson. Hicks scored 10 points in an 8th Region All "A" Classic semifinal win 64-46 on Thursday in Warsaw, Kentucky. Carroll will play Owen County in the championship at 8 p.m. on Saturday

WARSAW — Trimble County used a barrage of 3-pointers to jump out to an 11-2 lead on Carroll County in the All "A" Classic 8th Region girls basketball semifinals but the Panthers weathered that storm and finished out the first quarter on a 17-2 run en route to 64-46 victory on Thursday.

Carroll (7-9, 3-1) powered its way to a 33-19 lead before Trimble ended the second quarter on a 9-0 run — punctuated by a buzzer-beating half court shot by Ainslie Stark — that cut the lead to five at 33-28.

After halftime, Carroll pushed the lead out to 11 points after three quarters and opened a 22-point margin with three minutes to play to cruise to the win.

"I held off on calling a timeout," Carroll coach Scott Anderson said about Trimble's early run, "Ten games ago I would have called a timeout but I am learning more about my team and thought we could weather the storm. We started going with full court pressure and changed the pace."

"We seem to be too high and then too low," Trimble coach Zach Adair said. "We started the game on fire then a few things didn't go our way and then we got low and they had their run. The girls battled and Ainslie's shot at the half got us to five points but we could not sustain the momentum. We go back to work tomorrow and Monday and we will see how they respond. We have Henry which is a 50/50 game depending on which team shows up and Owen will be a tough one and we just have to go and compete."

Anderson gazed at the scorebook liking the Panthers' balance scoring. Carroll placed three in double figures with Courtney Strickland leading with 16 points, Grace Perkins with 12 points and Madie Hicks with 10. Katie McAlister and Reagan Matthews scored eight points each and Katie Hensley added seven.

However, he was most pleased with the Panthers' effort noting he is no longer coaching effort at Carrol but coaching basketball.

Addison Edmonson led Trimble (6-8, 2-2) with a game-high 20 points while Gracie Jent added nine points. Payton Butter scored seven, Stark five, Trinity Crawford three and Kimberly Rodriguez added two points.

Carroll advances to the championship game where they will take on Owen County, a 48-45 winner over Walton-Verona 48-45 in Thursday's other semifinal. The teams will play at 8 p.m. on Saturday at Gallatin County High School.

Trimble County travels to Henry County on Tuesday.

Hanover women steady in win over Mount St. Joseph

Left: Hanover's Taylor Heath goes to her knees to keep the ball away from Mount St. Joseph's Annabelle Williams during Wednesday's game in Collier Arena. Heath scored 15 points in the Panthers' 80-67 win to remain unbeaten in the Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference. Right: Hanover's Grace Bezold glides over Mount St. Joseph's Karlee Mills during Wednesday's game. Bezold, a sophomore, led Hanover with 24 points in the win.

Hanover was able to shake off the rust from a week and a half layoff and lead wire-to-wire to beat Mount St. Joseph 80-67 at home in women's basketball on Wednesday.

Although never able to blow the Lions out of the game, Hanover never trailed while remaining unbeaten in Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference play.

"I'm very pleased with their effort and play tonight," Hanover coach John Jones said. "The first quarter was a little slow and frustrating at times, especially with all the fouls committed, but that's what happens when you're off for a long time. Sometimes it takes a few minutes to get into a groove but I'm proud that we led from the beginning and are ready to keep rolling."

More than 20 fouls were called in the first quarter and the result was neither team could establish much of an offensive rhythm. However, Hanover did put together a late 8-0 run to grab an 11-point lead after the first quarter.

Mount St. Joseph stayed in the game thanks to its 3-point shooting, hitting six in the frame to allow the Lions to cut the lead at eight at 38-30 going into halftime.

The Panthers' big three sophomores — Grace Bezold, Katherine Benter and Taylor Heath — took charge and allowed Hanover to take control of the game in the second half en route to the victory. Bezold, who led the team with 24 points, was 11-for-15 from the floor.

"Grace was great. She looked smooth and continues to get better and better," Jones said. "Katherine and Taylor are just so consistent and they hit shots and did great coming off the bench and keeping us out front."

Benter scored 16 points and had seven rebounds while Heath had 15 points, four rebounds and four assists.

Even Mount St. Joseph coach Maisie Elston had high praise for Hanover's sophomores

"We typically do a very good job on forcing people to go left, but Heath is so good that she can go either way," Elston said. "Bezold is phenomenal. She's so good and she runs the floor so well, and she's a special talent. Hanover just has so many weapons, it's tough to focus on just one. I was proud of our effort, but Hanover just had more horses than we did."

The Lions were led by Anyiah Murphy with 17 points.

Hanover, now 9-4 overall and 6-0 in the HCAC, hosts Earlham as part of a doubleheader on Saturday. The Panthers then host Franklin on Wednesday.

HANOVER MEN DENIED AT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH

Hanover men's basketball suffered its second conference loss of the season, 54-52, at Mount St. Joseph on Wednesday.

Hanover played from behind most of the way, trailing 31-23 at the half and by as many as eight early in the second half before mounting a rally that saw the Panthers pull ahead by three midway through the half.

But Mount St. Joseph quickly answered and eventually pushed the margin back up to eight.

Hanover couldn't pull even down the stretch however and only managed to slash the final margin to two on Brice Gilman's 3-pointer at the buzzer.

Ty Houston scored 23 points on 9-of-18 shooting but was the only Panther in double-digits.

Gilman finished with eight points.

Hanover, now 7-5 overall and 3-2 in the HCAC, hosts Earlham on Saturday and travels to cnference rival Franklin on Wednesday.

Hamlin asked who won Bills-Bengals contest when he woke up

BY JOHN WAWROW
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. — Buffalo Bills safety Damar Hamlin has begun to communicate in writing with his family and others who have been at his bedside since he went into cardiac arrest three days ago — and his first question was, "Did we win?" his doctors said Thursday.

"The answer is yes, Damar, you won. You've won the game of life." Dr. Timothy Pritts told reporters in a conference call from the University of Cincinnati Medical Center, where Hamlin was rushed after collapsing and being resuscitated on the field during the Bills' game against the Bengals on Monday night.

Hamlin remains critically ill and in the hospital's intensive care unit, but he began to wake up Wednesday night, and it appears his neurological function is intact, meaning he can follow commands and move, Pritts said.

"He still has significant progress he needs to make, but this marks a really good turning point in his ongoing care," the doctor said.

"His first question that he wrote when he started to awaken was, 'Did we win?' " Pritts said. "So we know that it's not only that the lights are on. We know that he's home. And it appears that all the cylinders are firing within his brain, which is greatly gratifying for all of us."

BASKETBALL ROUNDUP

David Campbell

Southwestern's Kinsten Long (3) battles for the ball against Austin's Brynn Owens (22) and Jayleigh Schepman during Thursday's game in Hanover. Austin won the game 48-30.

Austin pulls away in 2nd half to knock off Southwestern

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Austin pulled away in the second half to run away from Southwestern 48-30 in girls basketball Thursday in Hanover.

Southwestern trailed 22-11 late in the second quarter but rallied to close the gap to 24-19 by halftime. But the Rebels couldn't sustain that momentum in the second half as Austin won the third quarter 17-6 to build a 20-point lead and cruise to the win.

Ashley Fulton scored 11 points and had four rebounds to lead Southwestern while Chloey Leach had nine points and seven rebounds. Kinsten Long scored six points and Riley Scroggins had two points and eight rebounds.

Southwestern, now 6-12 on the season, hosts South Decatur on Saturday and travels to Switzerland County next Thursday.

SWITZ GIRLS BEAT DEARBORN

Switzerland County scored a 40-37 win over South Dearborn in the semifinals of the girls part of the Rivertown Classic in Aurora on Wednesday.

Courtney Higgins had 16 points and four rebounds to lead the Pacers while Bri Stow had 10 points, five rebounds and five assists. Halle Archer had six points, six rebounds and four assists, and Collier had six points and four rebounds.

Switzerland, now 10-5 on the season, faced Lawrenceburg in the Rivertown Classic championship on Friday. The Pacers next host Southwestern on Thursday.

SHAWE BEATS ROCK CREEK

Freshman Audrey Barron scored a career-high 27 points to lead Shawe to a 52-49 win over Rock Creek in girls basketball Thursday on the road.

Shawe trailed 26-24 at halftime but outscored the Lions 19-9 in the third quarter to seize the lead. Rock Creek chipped away in the fourth but the Hilltoppers held on for the win.

Barron was 11-for-15 shooting from the floor and 3-for-4 from the free-throw line to lead the way. Ava Turner added 10 points and Allison Knoebel had nine points.

Shawe, now 10-5 overall and winners of four-straight, travels to Milan on Thursday.

CUBS LOSE TO CHARLESTOWN

Madison girls basketball dropped a 49-35 loss at Charlestown on Thursday.

Freshman Juliana Davis had 20 points and five rebounds to lead Madison. Breck Ralston had six points, Casey Dyer scored five points and three assists, Cam Cahall had two points and seven rebounds and Alaina Kelley also scored two. Kennedy Coleman scored a game-high 22 points for Charlestown and Tatum McFarland added 11.

Madison, now 8-6 on the season, host Silver Creek on Tuesday.

PACERS FALL TO DEARBORN

Switzerland County boys basketball lost 54-23 to South Dearborn in the semifinals of the Rivertown Classic in Aurora on Thursday.

The Pacers trailed 28-12 at halftime and never recovered.

Switzerland, now 5-6 on the season, will take on Rising Sun in the third-place game on Saturday. The Pacers travel to Southwestern on Friday, Jan. 13.

COURIERAREA SPORTS SHORTS

Jay Crawford has been named head coach of the Hanover College men's and women's swimming programs, the school announced on Wednesday.

Jay Crawford

Crawford was hired as interim head coach in early October but was promoted to the head job on Wednesday.

"I am very happy to remove the interim tag from Jay's title. It is obvious to me that the student athletes like and respect him as a coach and are thrilled to have him continue to lead our program," Hanover College Vice President for Athletics Lynn Hall said.

Crawford has been serving as the Southwestern High School head coach for the past 20 seasons where he has developed and coached both junior high and high school student-athletes as well as aided the Hanover College swimming programs.

Crawford and the Panthers are slated to return to the natatorium on Friday, Jan. 20 when they travel to Rose-Hulman.

Southwestern's Ashley Fulton has been named Ohio River Valley Conference girls basketball player of the week.

Fulton, a junior, scored 51 points, had 28 rebounds, 15 assists and nine steals in four games for the Rebels during the week.

Madison defeated Charlestown 29-20 in junior varsity girls basketball on Thursday.

Bailey Owens had eight points, four steals and three assists to lead Madison while Mylee McQueary scored eight points.

Madison, now 10-5 on the season, hosts Silver Creek on Tuesday.

Switzerland girls pick up 2 wins in the pool

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Switzerland County's girls swim team picked up four individual wins to claim first in a four-way meet at home on Wednesday.

The Lady Pacers beat out Providence, Henryville and South Ripley to score the win while the Switzerland boys finished third. The combined teams scored 546 points to stand second to Providence's 727. Henryville was third with 560 and South Ripley was fourth with 477.

The Switzerland girls claimed wins in two relays with Ava Cole, Brooklyn Flanders, Kaelin Taylor and Carly Bennett taking the 200-yard medley relay and the 400 freestyle relay. Cole also won the 200 individual medley and Molly Hicks won the 50 freestyle with a personal-best time.

Nathan Furnish and Caleb Ridener each won two events for the Switzerland boys. Furnish won the 200 individual medley and the 100 backstroke while Ridener won the 100 freestyle and the 100 breaststroke. Furnish, Ridener, Roman Hite and Derek Hoskins also won the 200 freestyle relay.

Bride's dressing requirement concerns guest

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy — My husband's sister is getting married in a year.

She is requiring all of the mothers at her wedding to wear a specific color and style of dress.

I am not in the wedding so I assumed that as a wedding guest I would be able to pick out my own appropriate dress; however, I was recently told by my mother-in-law (her mother) that the bride also wanted me and the other two sisters-in-law to wear the same color and style of dress as "the mothers."

I was quite surprised, since I've never heard of a bride requiring people that weren't in the wedding to buy a specific color and style of dress.

I have seven weddings to attend next year so I was going to buy a couple of new dresses for the year and re-wear them since different groups of people will be at different weddings.

This now requires me to buy a specific type of dress I would not usually buy. I understand this when I'm a bridesmaid, but I have no such role in this wedding. This comes off really controlling to me and has not made me feel great because the way I was informed was strange (my mother-in-law mentioned it to me multiple times over the course of one day).

I got married this past year and did not dictate what any of the in-laws or mothers had to wear to our wedding.

Is this an unusual ask?

— Sorry sister-in-law

Dear Sorry — Keep in mind that anyone can ask anything.

And yes, it does seem that brides (and/or their moms) are increasingly asking/expecting/demanding that their guests must wear a specific color and style of clothing to the wedding — as if their guests are some sort of bridal pep squad.

Ex's misconduct may affect his college

AMY DICKINSON
ASK AMY

Dear Amy: Over the course of our 16-year marriage my ex-husband often acted impulsively, in ways that were perhaps explained but not excused by his bipolar disorder.

Just after our second child was born, he kissed and groped a student at the local college whom he'd hired for a small job.

The student was appropriately angry and got a lawyer to threaten a civil case against him for sexual harassment.

To avoid this becoming public, he accepted the lawyer's proposal of a $40,000 payment in exchange for her silence.

Four years ago, I finally left him, got counseling for myself and our teens, and found happiness.

He remarried, and maintains a positive reputation as a businessman and philanthropist.

Recently I was shocked to learn that he's a candidate for a prestigious appointment to the board of the alumni foundation of that same local college.

I feel like I should expose his past behavior to the foundation, but I'm second-guessing my motives.

What's the right thing to do here?

— Unwilling Secret-Sharer

Dear Unwilling: You should seek legal advice regarding your options and the impact on all parties.

I am not a lawyer, but (to me) your ex-husband's behavior sounds more like sexual assault than harassment. His choice to purchase his victim's "silence" for a large sum means that she likely signed a non-disclosure agreement prohibiting her from disclosing or discussing the assault. I'm assuming that you did not sign an NDA.

If you care about this institution, you might also consider that their reputation will be adversely affected if they appoint your ex and this settlement is later exposed.

I suggest you contact the college.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Muster your best social self. Your charisma is enhanced and most people you meet should like and trust you at first sight. Once you explain yourself, someone should be more willing to give you the benefit of the doubt.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — See the world and live your life in bold color — why live in only black and white, or shades of gray? Loved ones might require some extra tender loving care, so be nurturing as along with expressing your feelings.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Your weekend might be built on socializing. Have fun by showing off your physical prowess with sports or exercise or working around the home. Check in with the wisdom of others when faced with crucial decisions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Friends and companions may be focused on getting tasks accomplished when you would rather spend time hanging out. Show an interest in the subjects that a loved one is absorbed in and you could learn something exciting.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Be inspired when someone presents you with a shining example of loyalty. Discuss some moneymaking ideas with friends. A romantic playmate might be in the mood for popcorn and snuggles in front of the fireplace.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — You can wheel and deal with the best and use good judgment and be skillful at business without taking unfair advantage of anyone. Powerful and positive forces could be at work within your family circle.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Never make a promise you're not committed to keeping. Spend the evening with family, friends, or at a community event where you could compete in a physical activity. Make your own place in the social pecking order.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Concentrate on the most important matters, rather than dwelling on non-essentials. Give in to your charitable urges without expecting anyone to return the favor. Interesting conversations can unite couples.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Let pleasurable experiences prevail. You can possess the magical touch that will make someone special smile. Your popularity should be on the rise if you display integrity and show enthusiasm for whatever is offered.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Spend the weekend exploring exciting new subjects. You grasp things quickly and could provide further explanations to someone if needed. Enjoy new trends but only embrace those that feel authentic to you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — The friend zone and being lovers are two very different types of relationships — each should be treated in a different way. Any weekend plans for relaxation at home may experience unexpected interference from outside sources.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Casually sharing your innermost secrets might leave you feeling vulnerable if you meet someone who only has their own interests and self-preservation in mind. Karma frowns on using gossip or political controversies to your advantage.

ASTROLOGY

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Good deeds speak louder than good words. Some people may not be impressed by what you say but they'll be moved by decisive action. Win someone over by making wise decisions and promises you can keep.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — "No strings attached" might be your motto. You are not fickle but might prefer playing the field and spending time with a variety of people. A small shift in your relationships should not threaten basic stability and solidarity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Every errand or outing can become a social event. Work flies by when you have fun people by your side. Minor frustrations or inconveniences could seem like major obstacles when they trigger inner fears or doubts.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Good things come to those who are patient. Keep the lines of communication open and welcome the facts even if you discover something you'd rather not know. Lend a sympathetic ear or shoulder to a friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — You excel at some subjects but you may have difficulty grasping certain concepts that lie outside your experience. Play to your strengths; study up on things you could improve or delegate to someone else

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Work now and you can play later. It could be to your advantage to be more generous although it may not seem that way initially. A loved one who is focused on success and business still cares about your feelings.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Relationships may not need to maintain initial courtship intensity, but they do need some consistent attention. Your warmth and kindness can shine brightly today so it won't take much effort on your part to gain more admirers.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Display your best ideas, though you may need to keep some of your insights hidden to spare someone's feelings. Share plans with like-minded homies and you should be able to focus your energies on achieving a goal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Keep your eye on the target. Make progress toward achieving your long-term goals. You may enjoy working hand in hand with a partner or loved one, but that doesn't mean you should slack off.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You may be too close to the subject. You might have been working so intently on a project that you no longer can see it objectively. Spend time socializing with coworkers or friends to gain a fresh perspective.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Lighten up and avoid serious subjects for a few hours. You may not realize that someone is being flirtatious. Sharing some lighthearted fun will make the day more enjoyable and give you a chance to relax.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — If you listen to a friend, your money could quickly be spent on a whim. Use sound judgment when your resources are on the line. You should be thinking about long term security, not instant gratification of your desires.

Bengals' Higgins says 'I'm in a good place right now' following incident

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Cincinnati Bengals receiver Tee Higgins said he's "in a good place right now" after hearing from Damar Hamlin's mother about his improvement on Thursday.

Higgins was involved in the hit that came right before the Buffalo Bills safety went into cardiac arrest on the field during the game Monday night.

"Obviously it's been hard, just because you know I had something to do with the play (and) whatnot," Higgins said in his first public comments since Hamlin collapsed and the game was suspended. But "everyone has been making me feel whole again. I talked to his mom and everything is OK, he's doing good, so I'm in a good place right now."

Higgins said Hamlin's mother told him "she's thinking of me and praying for me and things like that.

"And suddenly she's telling me that he's OK. And just all the positive stuff," the third-year wideout said. "I mean it feels good just knowing that he's OK, he's doing better, and it makes me feel better inside."

Higgins said it took him a beat or two after the play on Monday night to notice something was seriously wrong. Replays showed Hamlin stand up after tackling Higgins and a few seconds later fall straight backward.

"Me being a football player, I'm thinking he just flopped, one of my guys bumped him," Higgins said. "I just seen the fall. I looked again, and I seen what happened, and I just turned my head and trying not to think about it. So I knew it was something crazy and something tragic."

Medical personnel got Hamlin's heart started again with CPR and defibrillation. An ambulance rolled onto the field, and he was rushed to University of Cincinnati Medical Center.

"You know, it was hard (to see)," Higgins said. "Obviously, (I) wasn't in a good place to play the rest of that game, so I'm kind of glad that we chose not to play."

While the Bengals prepared for their next game, 430 miles away, the Bills addressed reporters on Thursday.

"I do want to say one more thing: I haven't reached out to Tee. I hope that he got some relief today. I saw some stuff on Twitter. And people should not be attacking him whatsoever. And I'm glad that Damar's family came out and said that. And hopefully he found some relief today. Because that's a football play. And I hope that he doesn't hold that upon himself because there's nothing else that he could have done in that situation."

Back in Cincinnati, Bengals receiver Tyler Boyd said he knew something was wrong when he tried to talk to Hamlin after he collapsed. Boyd and Hamlin both grew up in the Pittsburgh area and played college football at Pitt.

"I was trying to speak to him, and he wasn't giving me anything," Boyd said. "And just seeing that, and then (I) just kind of went shocked. But it still didn't hit me yet, you know, because that's a football play. But once everybody was coming over, and it was getting kind of serious. It kind of touched me in a way to where, man, you just can't take things for granted. You know, like, regardless of who we're playing against, that's my brother, no matter what."

Higgins said it was an emotional release to get back to practice.

Loyer's 3 lifts No. 1 Purdue over No. 24 Ohio State 71-69

BY JACOB BENGE
ASSOCIATED PRESS

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Fletcher Loyer made a go-ahead 3-pointer with 11 seconds left and No. 1 Purdue bounced back from its first loss of the season with a 71-69 victory over No. 24 Ohio State on Thursday night.

The Boilermakers (14-1, 3-1 Big Ten) trailed 69-66 with 41 seconds remaining after Ohio State's Sean McNeil made a 3 pointer.

Zach Edey responded with a bucket on the other end, and Purdue forced a turnover on the Buckeyes' next possession.

After Loyer's 3, the Boilermakers defended Ohio State's final possession and Brice Sensabaugh's final shot didn't get off in time.

Edey and Braden Smith each scored 16 points for Purdue, which had four players in double figures.

Sensabaugh scored 21 points for Ohio State (10-4, 2-1), which shot 50% from the field.

The lead changed nine times in the final eight minutes of the second half. Loyer made a 3 pointer to give the Boilermakers a 64-63 lead with under 5 minutes to go.

Both teams went scoreless until Sensabaugh made a jumper to give Ohio State a 65-64 lead with 3:19 left.

Edey made free throws to flip the score back in favor of Purdue, but he fouled Felix Okpara, who knotted the game at 66 with 1:57 left on a free throw of his own.

The Buckeyes held a 36-33 advantage at halftime behind 13 first-half points from Sensabaugh. Purdue shot 38.2% in the first half after beginning 3 of 18 from the field.

KEY EXITS GAME

Zed Key exited just under four minutes into the game and didn't return due to a shoulder sprain, according to an Ohio State spokesperson.

BIG PICTURE

Purdue: The Boilermakers avoided their second straight loss by outshooting Ohio State 50% to 45.2% in the second half. They began the game 3 of 18 from the field, but fought back behind 12 points and 11 second-half points from Edey and Loyer, respectively.

Ohio State: Sensabaugh has reached double figures for the seventh consecutive game. The freshman had at least 20 points for the third time in five games and made a team-best 10 field goals on 17 attempts.

Andretti Global partners with GM for Cadillac F1 bid

BY JENNA FRYER
AP AUTO RACING WRITER

General Motors will attempt to enter Formula One by partnering with Andretti Global under its Cadillac banner as it supports Michael Andretti's bid to launch a two-car American team.

Andretti has been lobbying the FIA, the governing body for F1, to expand the 20-car grid and join the series after a failed 2021 attempt to purchase Sauber. His petition to expand the grid has been met by fierce resistance from existing F1 teams who have argued an 11th team will dramatically dilute their revenues.

Andretti has continued to move forward with his desire — he's got financial backing to buy into F1, a deep-pocketed sponsor in Gainbridge, a new shop being built in Indiana, and now an engine and manufacturer partner in General Motors, one of the largest automakers in the world.

On Monday, FIA president Mohammed Ben Sulayem tweeted he has asked his FIA team "to look at launching an Expressions of Interest process for prospective new teams for the FIA F1 World Championship." It was the first public indicator that F1 might be willing to welcome an 11th team.

Michael Andretti first filed paperwork to expand the F1 grid in early 2022. He wants a true American team — California businessman Gene Haas owns the Haas F1 team that runs partly out of North Carolina but fields cars for a German and a Danish driver — and is putting the pieces together with the GM backing.

The team would be centered around driver Colton Herta, a Californian who in October signed an extension through 2027 with Andretti that runs concurrently with Indiana-based sponsor Gainbridge.

"We definitely have a plan to have an American driver. I think you all know who is leading the pack on that one," Andretti said. "Colton we have under contract right now in IndyCar. We want to make this an all-American effort to make sure we have an American driver in the seat."

Andretti said in Thursday's announcement — the culmination of four months of negotiations with General Motors — that the American automaker provides the Andretti effort the additional value rival teams have argued new teams must bring to F1.

"One of the big things was 'What does Andretti bring to the party?' " Andretti said. "Well, we're bringing one of the biggest manufacturers in the world with us now with General Motors and Cadillac. We feel that was the one box that we didn't have checked that we do have checked now. I think we'll be bringing a tremendous amount of support to Formula One and it's hard for anyone to argue with that."

GM recently won back the title of top-selling automaker in the United States after losing it last year to Toyota.

"Today is the first step in what we hope to be the historic entry of General Motors into F1," said GM President Mark Reuss. "Never happened in our history. It's very, very exciting for us to be with Andretti. And if given the opportunity, GM and Cadillac will compete with the very best at the very highest levels with passion and integrity that will continue to elevate the sport for the FIA and race fans around the world."

F1 immediately responded to the Andretti-GM partnership in the same tone it has since Andretti began pushing for expansion — by noting that it has several parties interested in joining the series and Andretti is simply the most visible. Andretti's father, Mario Andretti, is the 1978 Formula One world champion.

"There is great interest in the F1 project at this time with a number of conversations continuing that are not as visible as others," F1 said in a statement. "We all want to ensure the championship remains credible and stable and any new entrant request will be assessed on criteria to meet those objectives by the relevant stakeholders."

HAMLIN

Dr. William Knight IV said doctors had not yet determined the cause of Hamlin's cardiac arrest and that testing is ongoing.

It's also too early to say whether Hamlin could return to football after undergoing rehabilitation, Knight said.

The developments came as the Bills returned to practice on Thursday for the first time since Hamlin collapsed when his heart stopped after making a tackle during the game's first quarter.

The game was suspended and will not be resumed, two people familiar with the decision told The Associated Press. Both people spoke to the AP on condition of anonymity because the league is still figuring out how to determine playoff seedings and scheduling.

The NFL Players Association must approve changes.

Hamlin, a second-year player from the Pittsburgh area, spent the past two days sedated and listed in critical condition.

Pritts said during the conference call that neurological signs of improvement began Wednesday night as Hamlin gradually woke up, with the rest of his body healing. Hamlin still cannot speak because of a breathing tube in his throat.

Knight credited the quick medical response with saving Hamlin's life.

He said a physician was by Hamlin's side within a minute of him collapsing and recognized that the defensive back did not have a pulse. Knight said Hamlin required CPR and resuscitation on the field.

"It's been a long and difficult road for the last three days ... he has made a pretty remarkable improvement," Knight said.

"Great news," President Joe Biden said in a tweet. "Damar, like I told your mom and dad yesterday, Jill and I — along with all of America — are praying for you and your family."

Along with being able to write, his doctors said Hamlin was able to hold the hands of family and members of the Bills' administrative and medical teams at his bedside.

Although Hamlin is following commands, doctors have not yet fully assessed his speech and other functions, in part because he is under sedation to accommodate the breathing tube.

"When we talk about neurologically intact, it's a very gross term of big motor movements and following commands. When we talk about the finer things that make us human — cognition, emotion, speech, language, etc., we're looking forward to learning more about that," Knight said.

Over the past few days, players across the league — both former teammates and those who didn't know Hamlin until Monday — have rallied in support.

Colts safety Rodney Thomas made the two-hour drive from Indianapolis to Cincinnati on Tuesday just to be by the side of his former high school teammate.

"He's a fighter. I know he's a fighter and there's no other thought in my mind other than him walking out under his own power," Thomas said Wednesday.

Minnesota Vikings defensive tackle Harrison Phillips, who spent the previous four seasons playing for Buffalo, had dinner delivered to the hospital for Hamlin's family and medical staff.

Fans, team owners and players — including Tom Brady and Russell Wilson — have made donations to Hamlin's Chasing M's Foundation, which had raised more than $7.5 million by Thursday evening.

REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS
Notice is hereby given that Statements of Qualifications will be received by Hanover College in Jefferson County, Indiana, until 10:00 AM (local time) on the Tuesday, February 8, 2023, for Professional Architectural Services for the provision of design and inspection services appropriate to build the Veterinary Teaching Center. Hanover College has been awarded funding through the Indiana Economic Development Administration, READI Program by Our Southern Indiana Regional Development Authority. Firms interested in responding should submit five (5) paper copies of their proposal (stapled, not bound) and one (1) electronic PDF copy on a USB stick. Send the requested number of responses directly to Karen Middleton at 519 Ball Dr., Hanover, IN 47243. A copy of the RFQ may also be found at weblink: www.hanover.edu/businessoffice. Submit all questions regarding this RFQ to Kay Stokes at stokes@hanover.edu with the project name included in the subject line (no phone calls please). Any questions regarding this RFQ must be received via email no later than 10:00 A.M. on January 28, 2023.
Respondents should include the following information: Proposed Architect Project Team members, including Principal-in-Charge, Project Manager, Project Architect, Project Mechanical Engineer, Project Electrical Engineer, and Landscape Architect, and other staff necessary to complete the scope of work required for the project. Identify proposed consultants for services not provided by your firm. Provide resumes/credentials for key team members and consultants, including background, education information, their role in representative projects and relevant availability for this project; List representative projects completed by your firm in the last five (5) years similar to this project. Include any specific experience with college and university science facility projects, preferably anatomy lab facilities. Include information on project scope of work, and client contact person with project Owner; A list of references. Provide at least three recent references (name and current contact information) who may be contacted concerning your firm's experience and performance; Identify the principals of your firm. List the total number of employees, by discipline, in the submitting office; Description of the scope of services the engineering/architect firm would provide related to the "Overview of Services Needed". This scope of services should also include the estimated timeline for completion for each phase of the project; Provide physical location of office and team; How does your firm plan to approach inclusion to ensure we have significant and meaningful participation by MBE/WBE/VBE firms; Describe why your firm should be selected instead of your competitors; Provide a project timeline; Name, title, address, and telephone number of individuals with the authority to negotiate and bind the proposer contractually, and who may be contacted during the period of statements of qualifications evaluation.
All respondents will have to comply with all Federal Third-Party contract provisions. Equal Employment Opportunity (Executive Order 11246 Dated 9/24/65, as amended by Executive Order 11375 dated 10/13/67); Minority and Women Business Enterprise Policy (Department of Commerce); Compliance in the provision of training, employment and business opportunities; Title VI Civil Rights Act of 1964; Title VIII Civil Rights Act of 1968 (as applicable); Section 109 Housing and Urban Development Act of 1974 (as applicable); Section 504 Rehabilitation Act of 1973; Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988 (as applicable); Age Discrimination Act of 1975; Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990; Certification of Non-Segregated Facilities; Retention and Access Requirements for Records; Conflict of Interest; Remedies/Sanctions or Breach of Contract Terms; Termination of Contract for Cause – (All Contracts in Excess of $10,000); Termination for Convenience – (All Contracts in Excess of $10,000); Changes to Resources; Contractor to Furnish Necessary Personnel Resources; Reports and Information; Records and Audits; Copyright and Patent Rights; Compliance with State and Local Laws; Disclosure Reports; Compliance with Copeland "Anti-Kick Back" Act; Compliance with Davis-Bacon Act; Compliance with Sections 103 and 107 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act; Compliance with Clean Air and Water Acts (Applicable to all Contracts over $100,000); Drug-Free Workplace Requirements, and Others that may be Appropriate as Necessary.
Professionals are notified that participation of Minority and Women Owned Businesses is encouraged.
The selection committee appointed by the members of Hanover College, will evaluate each Statement of Qualifications, and select the most qualified competitors based on the following scoring criteria:
Past record of performance on contracts with Hanover College and other higher education clients, including quality of work, timeliness, cost control and federal funding. (35 points)
Specialized experience or technical expertise (college and university science facilities, preferably anatomy lab facilities) of the organization and its assigned personnel in connection with the type of services to be provided and the complexity of the project. (35 points)
Capacity of the organization to perform the work within time limitations, taking into consideration the current and planned workload of the firm. (20 points)
Firms plan to approach inclusion to ensure we have significant and meaningful participation by MBE/WBE/VBE firms (5 points)
Location of the organization. (5 points)
Responses to the RFQ must be received, as described above, no later than 10:00 A.M. (local time) on February 8, 2023. Statements of Qualifications received after this time and date will not be considered.
Once the Statements of Qualifications have been reviewed, interviews have been conducted and an agreement has been reached defining the scope of services with the top-ranked firm, Hanover College and the top-ranked firm will proceed to negotiate a fee that is fair and reasonable to both parties. If an agreement is reached, a contract will be consummated. If an agreement cannot be reached, negotiations with the top-ranked firm will be terminated and Hanover College will attempt to negotiate a contract with the second-ranked firm. The process may be repeated, as necessary. Hanover College reserves the right to reject any and/or all statements of qualifications.

Bills-Bengals won't resume; playoff scenarios revealed

BY ROB MAADDI
AP PRO FOOTBALL WRITER

The NFL said Thursday it will not resume the Bills-Bengals game that was suspended Monday night after Buffalo safety Damar Hamlin collapsed and went into cardiac arrest on the field.

The league said some of the factors in coming to its decision included that "not playing the Buffalo-Cincinnati game to its conclusion will have no effect on which clubs qualify for the postseason. No club would qualify for the postseason and no club will be eliminated based on the outcome of this game."

Also, the NFL said playing the game between the Bills and Bengals would have required postponing the start of the playoffs by a week, and affecting all 14 teams that qualified for the postseason.

The NFL said its decision creates "potential competitive inequities in certain playoff scenarios." The league said clubs on Friday, in a special league meeting, would consider a resolution recommended by the commissioner and approved today by the competition committee.

Hamlin has shown what physicians treating him are calling "remarkable improvement over the past 24 hours," the team announced Thursday, three days after the 24-year-old player had to be resuscitated on the field.

The Bills-Bengals game had major playoff implications for the AFC. Buffalo (12-3) entered Monday night needing a win to maintain the AFC's No. 1 seed. The Kansas City Chiefs (13-3) now hold that spot. The Bengals (11-4) had a chance to earn that top seed with two more wins and a loss by the Chiefs.

The scenarios approved by the competition committee include a potential neutral site for the AFC championship game. The league is considering several sites, including indoor and outdoor stadiums.

The resolution being presented to clubs for a vote on Friday follows:

The AFC Championship Game will be played at a neutral site if the participating teams played an unequal number of games and both could have been the No. 1 seed and hosted the game had all AFC clubs played a full 17-game regular season.

Those circumstances involve Buffalo or Cincinnati qualifying for the game as a road team. If Buffalo and Kansas City both win or tie this weekend, a Bills-Chiefs AFC title game would be at a neutral site.

If Buffalo and Kansas City both lose and Baltimore wins or ties, a Bills-Chiefs AFC title game would be at a neutral site.

If Buffalo and Kansas City both lose and Cincinnati wins, Bills or Bengals against Kansas City in the AFC title game would be at a neutral site.

Also, if Baltimore defeats Cincinnati in Week 18, the Ravens would have two wins over the Bengals, a divisional opponent, but will not be able to host a playoff game because Cincinnati will have a higher winning percentage for a 16-game schedule than Baltimore will for a 17-game schedule.

Therefore, if Baltimore defeats Cincinnati and if those two clubs are schedule to play a wild-card game against each another, the site for that game would be determined by a coin toss.

However, if the Bengals win this weekend or if Baltimore and Cincinnati are not scheduled to play each other in the wild-card round, the game sites would be determined by the regular scheduling procedures.

"As we considered the football schedule, our principles have been to limit disruption across the league and minimize competitive inequities," NFL Commissioner Roger Goodell said. "I recognize that there is no perfect solution. The proposal we are asking the ownership to consider, however, addresses the most significant potential equitable issues created by the difficult, but necessary, decision not to play the game under these extraordinary circumstances."

Ehlinger gets start as Colts, Texans vie for draft position

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Sam Ehlinger's wild, season-long ride will include one last twist Sunday.

He's back as the Indianapolis Colts' starting quarterback, this time against one of his home-state teams — the Houston Texans.

No, it's not the way Ehlinger or Indy envisioned closing this season, with an early January contest to sort out draft position. But the Colts' constantly spinning quarterback carrousel has become a routine part of daily life for Ehlinger.

"I started the year as the (No.) 3 (on the depth chart), went to the 2, then the 1, then the 2, then the 3, then the 2 and now the 1 again," he said. "That's quite a roller-coaster, literally. I've just tried to stay consistent through my routine."

Ehlinger's seven-step depth-chart dance explains why the Colts (4-10-1) are in this spot.

Their two most veteran quarterbacks, Matt Ryan (shoulder) and Nick Foles (ribs), are injured. So interim coach Jeff Saturday handed the reins back to Ehlinger, who will make his third career start in a game where the loser could turn out to be the biggest winner.

If Indy can't stop its six-game losing streak, it will lock up a top-five pick and perhaps, finally, find the long-term franchise quarterback they've been searching for since Andrew Luck retired.

Houston (2-13-1), meanwhile, was playing better until last week's 31-3 rout against Jacksonville. Another loss Sunday would assure the Texans of claiming the No. 1 overall draft pick for the fourth time since the franchise entered the league in 2002.

But nobody, of course, wants to describe the stakes quite that way.

"I've been asked this question a few weeks because we've been in that role," first-year coach Lovie Smith said when asked about losing to help in the draft. "I understand it. We've been trying to win for a long period of time, every game. None of that has changed."

Certainly not for Ehlinger, who lost his first two starts while completing 61.5% of his passes, throwing one interception and being sacked 11 times. He was more efficient last week in relief of Foles, going 9 of 14 with 60 yards and throwing his first career touchdown pass.

What would he like for an encore? Collecting his first career win.

"I have experience with it in college — you win your bowl game, and you feel a lot better in the offseason," Ehlinger said. "It builds a little bit of momentum going into the offseason. Being able to cap off the year with a win kind of adds a little positive psychology to it."

While Colts owner Jim Irsay will begin his coaching search this week, the Texans must first decide whether to keep Smith or try their third coach in three seasons.

Last year, Houston fired David Culley after just one season and Smith could meet the same fate, though he insists he's not worrying about his future after one of his most difficult seasons.

"We haven't won a lot of games," Smith said. "Whenever you don't win a lot of games, it's tough. It takes an emotional toll on everyone. By saying that, though, how the guys have performed lately has given you (hope) — you can see what the future looks like."

Colts rookie Rodney Thomas II spent most of Tuesday in Cincinnati visiting Bills safety Damar Hamlin in the hospital.

The two were teammates at Central Catholic High School in Pittsburgh and Thomas said he speaks with Hamlin almost daily — including Monday, before Hamlin collapsed and was resuscitated on the field during the Bills game in Cincinnati.
